Dear Sue -

I'm glad I got to know you better this year. We've really had a lot of fun in speech, lunch and going to the Alps. I'm glad you're going to Brigham Young. You'll really love it. Try to stop at St. O'lay on the way out there. I sincerely wish the best of luck always to a terrific girl. I hope we get together soon. This bless you.

If I don't go to the "Z" this fall, we'll at least be able to have some fun together. It won't be too difficult to get together, because Provo is just a little closer to Salt Lake than Rockford is.

Pupils Launch Varied Fields of Study

Students with cameras are being instructed by Mr. Maltz to his biology students. The microscope world is a satisfied in zoology.

Beginnings . . . yes, high school is a time of beginnings. As sophomores, required subjects are most often studied. During high school, English, foreign languages, math, science, social and craft courses are mastered and applied toward the future.

Good study habits begin to form. On this foundation students begin to build.

Homework, research, interest, and effort are required. If constantly pursued, these means achieve ends.

Outside assignments and extra work supplement knowledge gained in experiments, discussions, and demonstrations.

Learning to find answers independently and learning to attain necessary and personal goals are important in making a good beginning everywhere.

For Academic, Personal Advancement

A boys' gym class performs daily exercises

In choosing a curriculum adopted to their interests, students gain experience in a particular field

Physical education is one of the state-required subjects. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors participate in the planned exercises and activities during all three years at the secondary school level

Examples of classes which develop special interests of students are harmony, music literature, and art

Orchestra, choral groups, publications, and debate provide capable students with a chance for activities adopted to their abilities

Junior Steve Olson, winner of the Heart Fund's scholarship for study at the University of Illinois science seminar, prepares for a busy summer

Senior Bruce Johnson sands down a piece of wood for his project in woodworking.

Checking her work for possible errors enables Lisa Shortland student to achieve perfection.

Individual Skills, Aptitudes Develop

Swedish ambassador Dr. Yvonne Larsson and Consul General Folke Pearson observe Swedish students as they drill in the language laboratory.

Accuracy and practice are important in woodworking, shorthand, and art. Skills and habits developed in such programs can be applied in various areas — at home, at school or on the job.

Woodworking students make pieces of furniture such as tables and bookstands. Practice leads to progress in shorthand. Diverse skills acquired in art class can find many uses.

Success in one of these fields opens a door to opportunity.

with Practice

Experimenting to find the molecular weight of a solution in Advanced Chemistry II is George Dubik.

Seniors Sandi Rich, Marcia Karczewski, and Sherrie Dorr work on an art project using crayons, palette knife, and a spray gun.

Desire To Learn Aid Student Progress

From week to week students reach toward new and challenging goals.

Taking a sincere interest in all courses is a vital part of a student's progress at school. His homework, daily exercises, library work, and correction of mistakes are most important.

Instructors use the classroom as a media to relate subject matter and new developments. Yet, personal effort is necessary in learning and progressing to reach goals.

Curriculum Offers Physical, Musical,

Basic required courses provide a fundamental knowledge of English, social studies, math, and science.

Since each student will not be suited for the same work, the Rockford system offers opportunities for study in the physical, business, musical, industrial, artistic, and home making programs.

Qualified instructors plan courses of interest and relevance to students in this modern age. Changes brought about by time are recognized and taught. Up-to-date programs are valuable to participants.

With a high school education completed, graduates receive a diploma. Through the senior year, however, several members of the class are honored and recognized for achievement.

High test scores, records of leadership, election results, superior grades, extra study, and special interests are various qualifications for different awards.

As public education is ended, graduates look toward the future more than ever. Colleges, occupations, technical training schools, and the armed services will be chosen fields.

The purpose of education is to prepare the student for the world in which he lives. High school is a time of beginnings.

Drum major Gary Johnson and band members direct E-Rab fans in a "Sing Along" during half-time at a football game

With the thundering of drums and blaring of trumpets, East's Marching Band became the first Illinois high school band to participate in the University of Wisconsin Band Day

Directed by Mr. Gordon Bueschel, the 94-piece band gave its annual performance in the Northwestern Band Day in the fall

Daily practice either on the field or in the band room prepared band members for appearances in benefit concerts for Guilford and Auburn High Schools, local parades, and their annual concert in the spring

Half-time shows at home football games this year introduced the "Sing Along" to enthusiastic E Rab fans

Many band members led the surprise finale with "76 Trombones" in "Music Man"

Concert Orchestra for Spring Programs

"Our music to West Side Story is missing!"
"Where is the piccolo?"

These phrases often floated out of 319 seventh hour as the Concert Orchestra began its daily rehearsals. During second semester three student conductors were chosen to take over part of the rehearsals for the director, Mr. Dana Connel.

Highlighting the year were the annual Orchestra concert, performed with the Treble Clef Choir on March 1, and the spring Music Festival on May 26. Providing a Sophomore Orchestra Welcoming Tea and playing at commencement were also spring projects.

First semester activities for the 57-piece orchestra were decorating their Homecoming float and selling fruitcakes.

Concert Orchestra members concentrate on their music as they practice for the spring program.

Students Audition for Sinfonietta Group

Sinfonietta rehearses for the presentation of "Music Man"

Sinfonietta, a group of East High's most accomplished musicians, is selected by auditions from Concert and Sophomore Orchestra members.

Under the direction of Mr. Dana Connell, the group met for rehearsal each Wednesday after school.

Activities of Sinfonietta included playing for the junior and senior class plays, the operetta, the Music Festival, and the National Honor Society assembly.

Members' Mastery of Vocal Selections

That practice makes perfect is the principle followed by Mr. and Mrs. Long in preparing their members for music programs.

Practicing in the people, Mrs. Long occupied the class period for the last part of the year.

This was especially true in preparing for the Christmas activities. The Christmas program was at the end of the year. This year being based on selections of Mr. and Mrs. Long. So was the program. It was a good one. It was a good one. It was a good one.

In the spring, Cappella members presented the twenty-third annual concert. The year was terminated by singing for the big jubilee and conference at the end of the year.

Treble Clef, directed by Mrs. F. H. Smith, sang the popular "M—Men" the Christmas season. The choir also sang the song "M—Men" at the Christmas party.

Boys and girls of the school took part in the singing of "M—Men" at the Christmas party.

During the year Treble Clef sang many different types of songs. The song "M—Men" was the first. "Sweet and Low" is May 5. "My Gracie" was the first song. It was composed by the author of the song. A song is arranged for women's voices and those composed by Greg, S. H. H. and R. H. H. H.

There are many other songs which the girls sing through out the year.

Performing "Gloria" by Antonio Vivaldi in the spring Music Festival was the highlighted activity of the Glee Club.

Rounds and canons, folk songs, songs from musicals such as "Oklahoma" and "South Pacific", and music of great composers were sung in class in order to introduce students to varied types of music.

Vocal training was given to the students by Mr. Linden Lundstrom.

Many hours were spent during the weeks before the operetta assisting the stage crew in painting scenery for the show.

Kathy Key accompanied Glee Club for the rehearsals during the year.

With an extensive picture-taking schedule and the establishment of a format and style rules, the Argus staff began the organization of the 1963 Argus.

A professional touch was added to the Argus by Mr. Bay Kaufman who shot every picture.

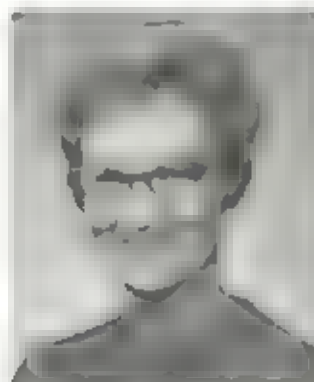

The editors met with Mrs. Berzinski in the summer to decide upon the theme and make-up of the yearbook. This year the Argus was revised by placing the student activities before the class pictures. A new eight page opening section was also introduced.

Distributing the newspapers and yearbook in and out of school besides presenting the talent show "Take Five" gave the business staff a busy year.

Finance, advertising, and circulation of the Highlights and Argus were the main jobs of the Business Staff.

The business managers took charge of handling money and bills, making deposits, and keeping ledgers.

Advertising made possible the existence of an effective school publications department. The starting point began last summer with the soliciting of ads by the newswriters, closely followed by before-school workshops for both staffs.

Preparing for the distribution of the Argus, the business staff members are seen working together at a table.

Seven Receive Quill and Scroll Honors

Providing critical estimates of student newspapers and honoring individuals for outstanding work in journalism are the functions of Quill and Scroll.

The East Highlights is rated once a year by this society. East High members for the honor group are chosen in the spring from students enrolled in newswriting classes and from those participating in publications.

"We feel that a split was inevitable because of the size of the Northeast Northwest Convention. East will be the largest school in the new Northwest district and will undoubtedly assume the leadership role," stated Sam Stonefield, Student Council president, after the NE-NW Convention results in Hinesdale on November 10.

The Senior Class and E-Rab Boosters joined the Council in decorating for the homecoming dance, "Harvest Haze". Council members were in charge of the homecoming queen election. Throughout the year members worked in the Student Book Center, which was open for the entire day.

Advised by Miss Catherine Needham, the Student Council regulated elections and parking lot registration and sponsored rec nights after game dances, and pep rallies.

Mr. C. G. and Lane Carson show NHS stationery to Jennie Hedrick and Mary Schneider

Qualifications for NHS Membership

NHS officers were Kathy Palmquist, first semester secretary, Elinor Radlund, advisor, Dennis Hedrick, second semester secretary, Carol Heidbreder, second semester president, and Bob Olson, first semester vice president.

"Creation of enthusiasm for scholarship, stimulation of a desire to render service, promotion of worthy leadership, and encouragement of character development" . . . to uphold these aims, new inductees pledged themselves solemnly at the May 8 assembly

Led by second-semester president Dennis Hedrick and secretary Carol Heidbreder, the new probates proceeded to the auditorium stage for their formal presentation by Mrs Elinor Radlund, adviser

A money-making project for the 33 members elected last year as juniors was the sale of stationery in the Book Center. The members were in charge of paper machines

An added duty of president Dennis Hedrick was conducting Guilford High School's initiation ceremonies

The inducted juniors ushered at Baccalaureate and Commencement, and served at the Senior Tea

Future Teachers Discover Educational

Sue Ibsen and Margo Miller, members of the West High FTA, speak to East High's members about the summer session for future teachers at Northwestern University.

Learning of opportunities in teaching, developing leadership qualities, and helping other young people are the interests of the Future Teachers of America.

Advised by Mr. William Dolan, the monthly meetings presented skits, panel discussions, movies, and speakers that acquainted members with the different phases of teaching.

Taking children from the Children's Home to breakfast at Bishop's Cafeteria and buying them gifts was the annual Christmas project. Seniors visited elementary schools in the spring. Members aided the partially seeing students by reading and typing.

The annual spring picnic concluded the year's activities.

Preparing for service to mankind is the goal of the Future Nurses' Club of East High School

Organized in 1953, FNC has a variety of programs on nursing and other medical fields that provide background helpful to its members in choosing a medical career.

Comprised of 179 girls, FNC volunteered for outside projects as giving a Halloween party at the Children's Convalescent Home. Members also served at the Rockford Sanitarium and North Rockford Hospital.

Over one half of the members were hospital volunteers either as Zanteens, Tags, Candy-stripers, or Jenny Linds.

Miss Dorothy Butts was counselor.

AFS Sets New Monetary Goal for '63

Sharon Word, Uki Atay, and Helga Kulecki distribute tags during the basketball game on AFS tag day

Goal number one for the members of the American Field Service was to raise enough money to send two East High students to foreign countries this summer.

"Coins for AFS" was launched as February 8 became Tag Day. East's clubs contributed to various fund drives throughout the year.

Book covers were sold for the first time this year. The Varsity-Faculty basketball game and a candy sale before Easter also helped the financial aim.

Uki Atay, East's foreign exchange student from Turkey, an honorary member of the club, spoke on the differences of countries and AFS's promoting a better understanding and good will among the peoples and nations of the world.

Yule Activities Reveal Swedish Customs

During December, Evy Reiersen reigned as queen over the Lucia festival. The traditional holiday, held at the Erlander Home, included a smorgasbord and "Lyugonda Knut", a night to dance out the Christmas season.

The queen and her court, as guests of honor, sang Swedish carols at the P. A. Peterson Nursing Home banquet.

Members also produced and participated in a Swedish Christmas program on a local radio station.

Slides shown by Miss Margaret Swanson, adviser, and by Mr. Charles Boettcher, a Rockford architect, proved that most of Sweden is as modern as the United States.

Le Cercle de France was aimed to stimulate interest in the French language, its people and customs.

In order to accomplish this goal, French Club members were divided into six groups, each responsible for presenting various programs throughout the year. One group performed a skit based on the French custom of picking grapes for wine.

French caroling brightened the holiday season of "Noel."

"Project Window-Wash" gave the language lab a clean shine and German Club members a busy year. Equipped with window sprays and towels, the members' care of the lab became a monthly procedure.

At their Christmas party, the German students sampled a wide variety of German pastries. Christmas also brought items of the festive St. Nickolas Day that were displayed in the main showcase.

Singing German folk songs under the direction of Mr. David Teske, adviser, and seeing movies on German culture comprised most of the year's activities.

Concluding the year was the second annual "Deutsches" banquet in the spring.

"Hola amigos! "Charlemos!" Hello friends! Let's chat! These were the greetings often heard on the first Thursday every month at the Spanish Club meetings under the supervision of Mrs. Margaret Larson.

Colored slides, guest speakers, and Spanish skits were the main features of the meetings which enabled members to acquaint themselves with Spanish culture.

The traditional Christmas party was the highlight of the year. Beginning with a skit titled "The Night Before Christmas" given by third and fourth year Spanish students, the party concluded with gathering the gaily wrapped candy from the broken pinatas.

Annual 'Quo Vadimus' Banquet

Latin Club members in homemade togas prepare to enjoy the annual "Quo Vadimus" banquet

"The Golden Age of Rome" reigned again as members of Quo Vadimus, East's Latin Club, presented their annual spring banquet in a true Roman style. toga-clad members reclined on foiled cafeteria tables and ate everything from eggs to apples. Slaves, first year Latin students, served the three course meal amid a festive atmosphere of singing and dancing, and kept "wine" glasses continuously filled. For a few hours, Rome lived again—at least in spirit.

With the aid of Miss Louise Hoke, adviser, eleven members performed a humorous skit based on television's College Bowl. The panels represented fictitious Reubin College and Niger University, whose members were asked questions on Roman literature.

Monthly meetings included programs ranging from plays from the Latin textbooks to a discussion of the similarities of the Roman feast "Saturnalia" and Christmas.

Questions of Roman literature composed the basis for the Latin Club version of College Bowl with Reubin College vs. Niger University

Debaters Concentrate on Western Unity

Varsity debaters Bill McClure, Rick Marklund, Bob Eksten, and Ward Jones prepare for participation in a debate tournament

"Resolved. That the United States should promote a Common Market in the Western Hemisphere." This phrase has resounded in the ears of debaters all year

The subjects of tariffs, Alliance for Progress, and communism have occupied many spare hours for debaters

The varsity team, composed of Bill McClure, Rick Marklund, Ward Jones, and Bob Eksten, won the first place trophy at the Sterling Invitational Tournament. The team also placed in the Sectional Debate Tournament at Evanston which qualified them to participate in state competition at Champaign on April 5 and 6

Original oratory, radio speaking, impromptu speaking, and oratorical declamation were a few of the projects completed by senior debaters

Junior debaters prepared speeches for the Junior Oratorical Contest, from which three finalists were chosen to give their speeches before the Junior Class on March 29

Lincoln's Address Inspires Discussions

"Four score and seven years ago, our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal . . . and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

The above words from President Abraham Lincoln's Immortal Gettysburg Address have provided generations of Americans with inspiration for nearly a century. It was also the main topic of discussion for many speakers at the Civil War Roundtable meetings.

Famous battles, leaders, and generals from the Civil War were discussed under the guidance of Mr. Leonard Becker.

Mr. Roy Brown, a Rockford attorney, and Mr. Leonard Becker compare notes on Lincoln with Civil War Roundtable members Bill Heimdahl, Sue Evans, and Chuck Goldy.

Discussion topics from mystic mathematics to the inner workings of contemporary telephones were presented to East's Science Club by guest speakers and movies.

A visit to the Chicago Nuclear Lab and field trips comprised an educational year.

Since the purpose of Science Club is to further interest in science; co-advisers Mr. Emery Fritsch and Mr. Norman Dean encouraged and counseled members in scientific projects of their own choosing. These projects were exhibited at the District Science Fair at Northern Illinois University and the State Science Fair at the University of Illinois.

ROTC Inspires

Dear,

I will always respect
the ideas you believe in.
You are a fine girl, Cuboliation has been fun and I have enjoyed

East High's ROTC Battle Group's compact of three companies, two platoons per company, and three squads per platoon.
Using these units as a functioning basis, the cadets are taught the fundamentals of being a competent soldier. Rifle manual, pointing, discipline and drill are but a few of the many courses in the three years of the training of a cadet. ROTC training prepares the cadet for the type of life he will meet in the military service and gives him skills which will provide an excellent basis for rapid advancement. Education and activity in sports and leisure activities are afforded encouraged as basis for a military spirit of victory.

The school life of a cadet includes the military drill held each year to raise funds for the various ROTC functions and equipment.
Along with this the cadets participate in competitive drill, Federal Inspection, the Memorial Day and Veterans Day Parades, and other extra-curricular activities. These extra-curricular activities include the annual trip to Fort Sheridan for all senior cadets, as well as the intermaral sports which build the necessary "esprit de corps". The rifle team record for the 1962-63 season was 16-9.

of Luck Always,

Military Ball Depicts US Heritage

"Our Heritage," the twenty-third Annual Military Ball, successfully crowned the climax of an eventful year.

Considerable preparation was made for this year's Military Ball, with a contest being held to determine its name. The contest stated that the name had to contain a military term or be somehow associated with a military atmosphere. With these factors considered, the winning title of "Our Heritage" was chosen.

Attending the Military Ball as guests were the cadet officers and their dates from West High, Auburn, and Marmion Military Academy. Officers and non-commissioned officers from the United States Army and Marines were special guests.

Highlighting the evening for over five hundred cadets and students was the traditional grand march through an arch of sobres.

Eleven ROTC officers and guests formed this receiving line for more than an hour.

In a setting of red, white, and blue, East High's cadets successfully staged their twenty-third Annual Military Ball.

These ROTC varsity riflemen took the East-West title this year. Kneeling are Mike Anderson, James Harris, Gary A. K. and David B. Standing are David Powers, Terry Jordan, Gary H. and Robert Stoner and David B. Kerner.

Activities of the ROTC cadets are numerous and varied. ROTC cadets developed skills through competitive activities. Outstanding cadets participated in rifle team, drill team, and color guard. ROTC companies entered three teams in intramural baseball competition.

Seniors participated in a field trip to Fort Sheridan on April 17 where they watched demonstrated firings of the United States Army's new M-14 rifle and many other modern tactical weapons.

Federal Inspection, Competitive Drill, and the Memorial Day Parade closed the year.

East Captures Quadrangular Drill Title

Drill Team members won the East-West title in the drill meet and also performed at the Military Ball this year. The squad members, front row are Tom Kerner, Leo Davis, Mike Jenkins, David Gier, James Anderson, and Harry Wilard. In the back row are Terry Anderson, Tim Matthews, Team Commander, Roger Hixman, Fred Freese, and Robert Stoner.

Students, Teachers

Ending summer jobs, vacations and summer school, East's regular academic year opened on September 6 with 15 new faculty members, most of them replacing former East teachers who transferred to Guilford. There was a minimum of change in the grounds: Sod on the 28th Street and lower athletic fields was ready for use after resurfacing, and water pipes were laid to the baseball diamond.

Solving the problem of where to display certain athletic awards, a wooden strip from which 61 plaques were hung was installed on the wall of the first floor. New linoleum and plaster in the Little Theater, a new sink at the back of the stage, and two additional language laboratory booths comprised other additions to the school building.

Various reasons brought many students to school before it officially opened. Publications staffs met during the day on September 4 and 5; sophomores and their parents attended orientations on those evenings.

On September 12, 1,113 girls and 1,097 boys were enrolled at East, the sophomore class of 852 being the largest.

Principal James Welsh prepares to make the year's first announcement over the public address system.

Publications members enact a scene in the subscription assembly, "The Verdict Is Yours."

Although the evening of October 12 was cold and blustery, a capacity crowd filled Beyer Stadium to watch as the E Rabs scored three touchdowns to LaSalle-Peru's one during the first half.

Four floats that foretold victory accompanied queen candidates Kathy Hein, Nancy Sjostrom, and Mary Thomas on their way to the announcement platform, where Ron Bodach, Student Council boys' vice-president, revealed that Nancy would reign over "Harvest Haze."

From their throne constructed by the Class of '63, the queen and her runners-up saw the Cavaliers manage a second touchdown in the third period, but it was not enough to conquer East, who rallied again in the fourth quarter, making the final score 27-19 and marking East's first homecoming victory over LaSalle-Peru.

"Harvest Haze," characterized by murals of Early American fall countrysides and music by Bill Engberg, was highlighted by the crowning of the queen by Sam Stonefield, Student Council president.

In October, air raid drills brought the world-shaking dangers of the Cuban crisis closer to the E-Rabs, many of whom had marveled at the world cooperation evident at the Seattle World's Fair in the summer.

East students joined in community activities by participating in such local groups as Junior Achievement, Ken-Rock Center, Junior Women's Club, and Center Players.

Backing East's dramatic program on October 18 and 20, junior class members presented "Ask Any Girl," a play in which Pamela Rahm and a host of other small town, just-out-of-college girls went to New York to find husbands and glamorous jobs. In spite of her two aunts, Diane L. Johnson and Jean Geissman, Pam landed a job and a husband, Darrel Guler, a stiffnecked advertising man with whom she had originally conspired to win happy-go-lucky Steve Teske.

Progress in Rockford was evident with the opening of a fourth high school, a new St. Anthony hospital, and expansions of the mail library and Swedish American Hospital.

Many activities and events distinguished life at East during 1962-63

East High became a College Entrance Examination Board Testing Center for the first time, administering the SAT and achievement tests as well as the PSAT.

In order to promote enthusiasm for school sports, the E-Rob Boosters Club was organized. Members of this club formed cheering sections at home games.

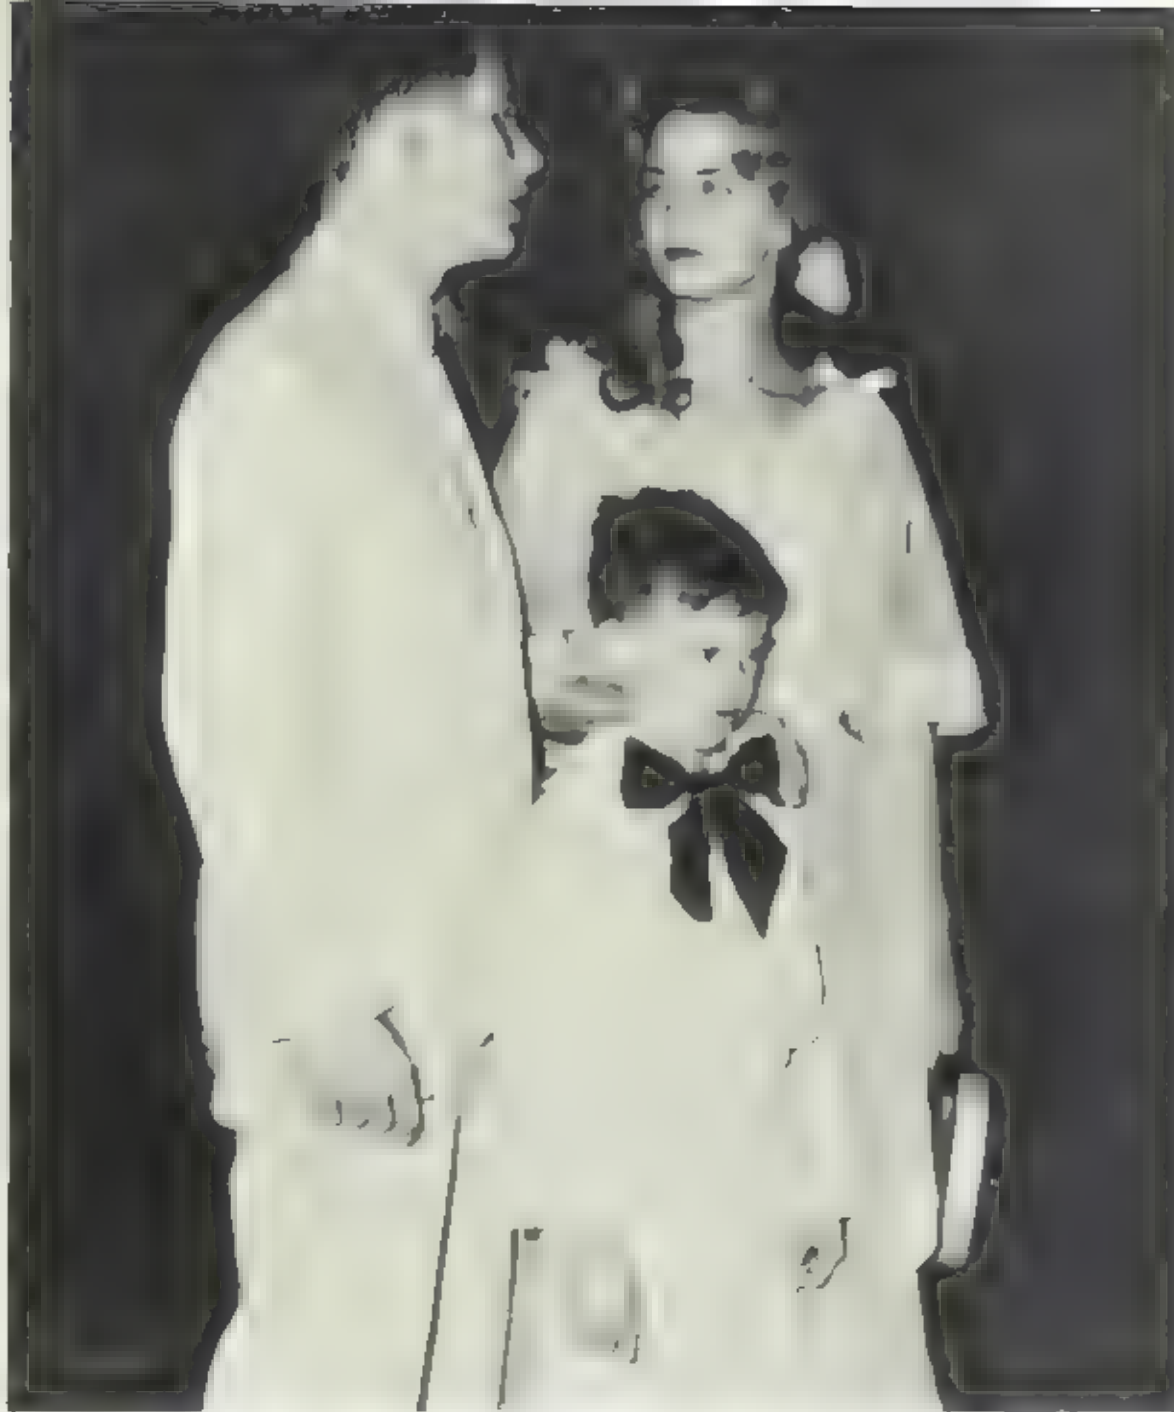

In homeroom and special assemblies students and faculty heard the Manner Chor and talks on bowling, civil defense, and sports-car racing.

Knitting continued to be the rage, with mohair sweaters a favorite. Wrap-around skirts, knee socks, vests, girls' stretch pants and boy's tapered pants and beige Levi's were especially popular.

Garb at the senior mixer, "Ugh", on November 16, included matching shirts, Levi bermudas, and slacks. Seniors and their dates swung and promenaded to the directions of Carrole Carlson; they were entertained by a skit in which seniors dressed as "Peanuts" cartoon characters found the "Wizard of Ugh."

Grand Finale

Bringing an air of excitement to its audiences and to its cost of over $50, "The Million Dollar Man" East High's set out apparatus, told the story of Professor Harold H. S. of a prince in a small Iowa town. Staged on November 29 and 30 and December 1 the production involved 14 different scenes in 412 River City, whose residents were said on the boys' band idea presented by the professor, a sick traveling salesman.

Karen McDowell, the evasive real-estate broker determined to expose the music man on London who planned to skip town with the night tants' money, she failed to live with him. Instead, Ted Kline, the corrupt Mayor Shinn, and his school board finally caught the case. It is a musician, but others who believed in him, lived the townspeople that the music man had actually benefited everyone.

Cast members had a special treat when The Buffalo Bills, the quartet appearing in the Broadway and movie versions of "The Music Man," sang for them during a short visit at East.

Junior Class

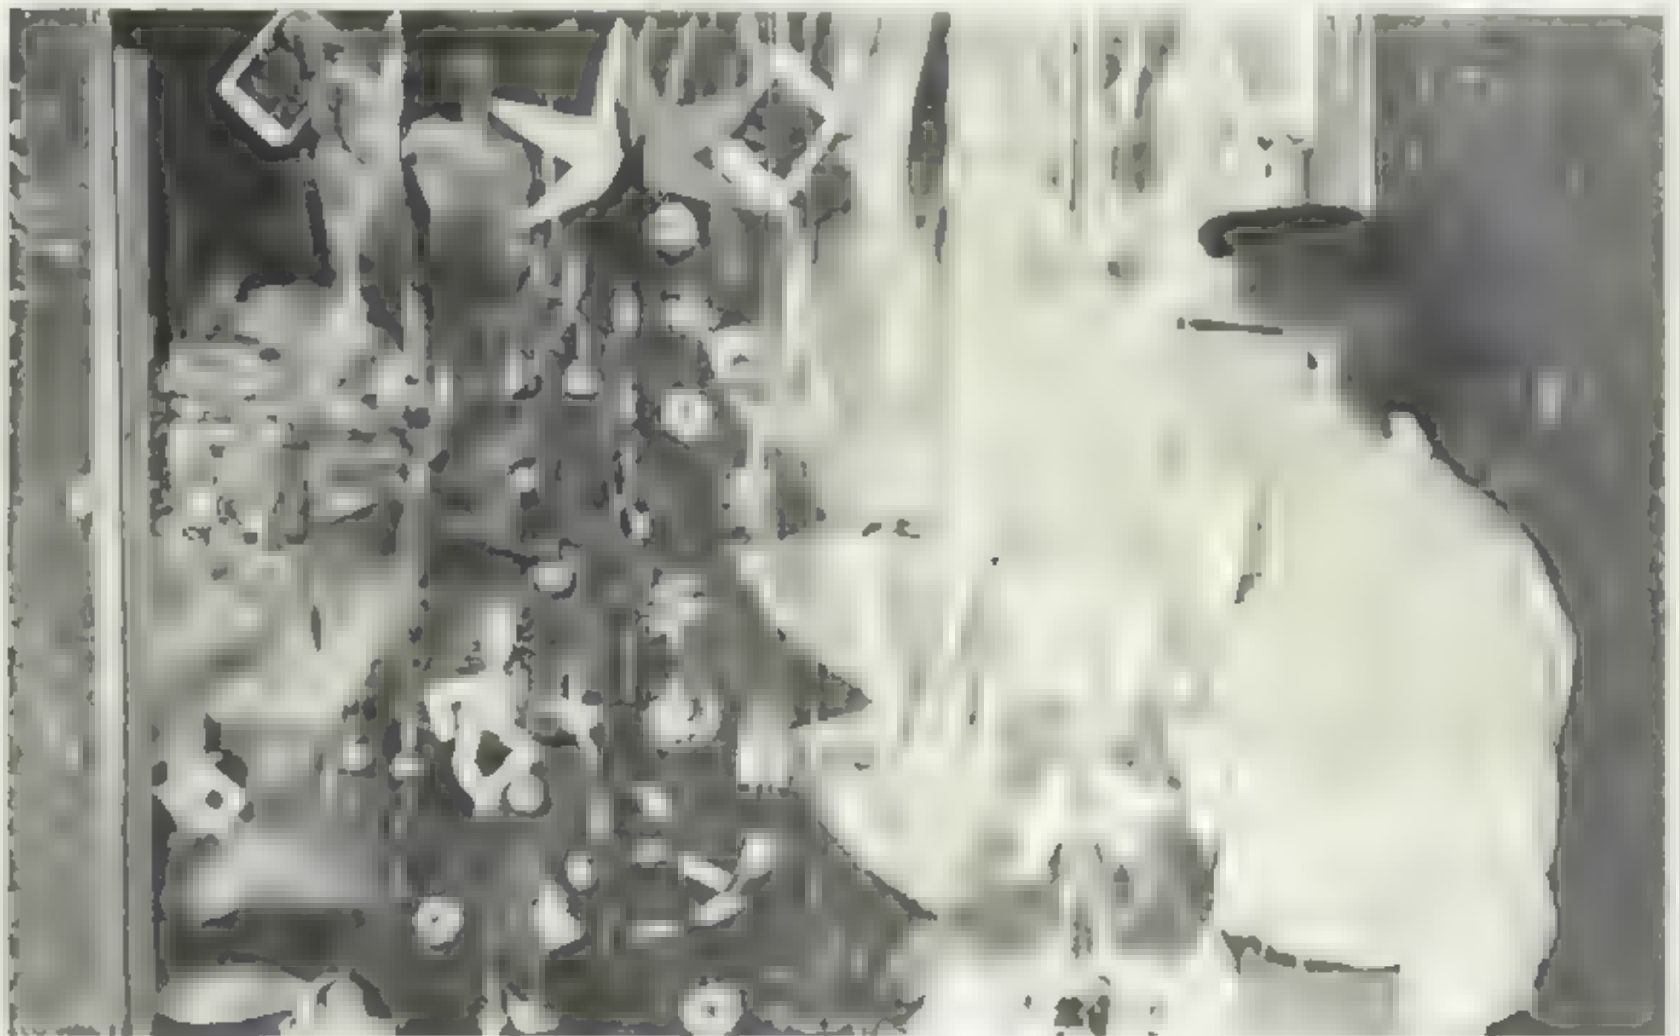

Holiday moods and decorations highlight "Wonderland by Night," the junior prom

Besides winter sports, private and club holiday parties, and just plain relaxing during Christmas vacation, the junior prom was one of the favorite December activities at East. On December 8, blue and white decorations transformed the gym into a "Wonderland by Night," the theme of the dance. Music by Jack Sweeney's band and holiday attire contributed to a dreamy, yet festive mood.

Because of its theme, the mood in "Take Five," the annual Publications Talent Show presented on January 24 and 26, was largely one of business — show business, that is.

Chosen from forty acts, the performers in the show's seventeen acts portrayed characters seeking jobs on Broadway. The setting was a break between rehearsals of a Broadway play; the only scenery was the bare stage, all effects were done with lights.

On January 28 East students began second semester. Most seniors began to plan for work or college. All students were encouraged to redouble their study efforts.

Double Cast

As spirits rose with the melting snow and rising temperatures, spring fever found release in numerous activities, including "Hay Day," the Student Council Mixer on March 9, and the Sophomore Party on May 4.

Performing in the senior class play which was double-cast for April 4 and 5, Harvey, a supernatural being in the form of an invisible rabbit, made his debut on stage.

Harvey's appearances to Elwood P. Dowd (Mike Allen, Bob Eksten), head of a wealthy family in a western city, and to his sister Veta (Laura Blomquist, Cindy Fairburn) puzzled Veta's daughter Myrtle (Barb X. Johnson, Karen McDowell) and Wilson (Brian Anderson), the bouncer at the insane asylum to which Elwood was finally committed. But Elwood was never cured of his illusions. Although the asylum's doctor (Ted Klint, Darryl Lindberg) would not admit it, even he saw Harvey.

Life during the last part of the school year was a rush of activities for most Eastside. Studying for finals, competing in elections, practicing for special programs, and attending banquets and final club meetings left little spare time.

During final exam week, assemblies commemorating Memorial Day and student scholastic, athletic, and leadership abilities relieved tension from two-hour examinations.

Caught in the excitement of preparing for the prom and graduation ceremonies and of discussing their future plans, seniors were to remember their experiences at Eastside for many years to come.

On the evening of June 6, following rehearsals for commencement and baccalaureate, graduates heard Rev. Luther Stromme speak at Baccalaureate ceremonies.

Graduates and incoming sophomores moved ahead to new experiences.

Although handicapped by a lack of experienced players, East High's varsity football team compiled a season record of three wins and six losses.

East opened the campaign by dropping games to Beloit, 18-7, and North Chicago 27-6. In the conference opener against a highly touted Rockford West 11, the Rab defense held the Warriors scoreless while the offense failed twelve points.

In the following week's contest, the Erbsmen failed to keep up their momentum as they fell 12-0 to the eventual conference champion, Auburn.

Homecoming festivities were highlighted by the team's 27-19 overpowering of La Salle Peru. Although the Cavaliers scored first in the game, the Rab machine steamed back to establish a twenty point lead.

The next three weeks followed with successive losses to West Aurora, 27-7, East Aurora, 21-13, and Elgin, 13-0.

The culmination of the season was the final victory over Freeport, which proved to be a battle decided by extra points. As the defense held on goal line stands, the E-Rabs, many playing their last football game, eked out a 13-12 win over the Pretzels.

Rabbits Start Season with New Mentor

Harassed by a series of bad breaks, East High's sophomore football team ended the season with a record of three wins, five losses, and one tie. Larry Franzen, quarterback, was out for most of the season with a broken arm. The stalemate game with La Salle-Peru and the loss to Freeport by one point also hindered the team's progress.

After losing the season's opener to Beloit, the Rabbits lost two more games before beating Auburn for their first victory.

Battling for control of the field against LaSalle-Peru at Homecoming, the sophomore squad played a climatic game that resulted in a scoreless tie.

Another match saw the Rabbits give a fine showing against their formidable foe, the Elgin Maroons, whom they defeated 32-7.

Hampered by a lack of working experience, the Rabbits finished fifth in the highly competitive Big-8 Conference.

Sophomore Dan Rumery dodges two Auburn gridders as he executes a sensational eighty yard run, gaining valuable yardage for the Rabbits in their 14-0 Big-8 win over the Squires.

Intramural Coach Bill King instructs sophomore on proper technique of lifting weights

Department Initiates Fall Intramurals

Intramurals was met with enthusiasm as Bill King, athletic coach and adviser for the varied sports, coordinated a program which ran from September through October.

Variety for participants included basketball, gymnastics, golf, and weight lifting. The gymnasium was open for use twice a week after school for those who wished to take part, any student was eligible to participate.

Because of the success of the intramural program, Mr. King plans to expand the schedule next fall.

Most popular of the fall events was basketball. Ten teams, composed of seven or eight players each, competed against each other for the league championship. Before claiming first place honors by winning over the other undefeated team, the champions were victorious in four league contests.

Bill King, sophomore, displays his golfing form after winning the intramural championship.

Coaches, Newsmen Cite Ron Carlson

Looking downcourt for someone to whom he can pass is Ron Carlson (40). Bill Stenberg (52) stands ready to aid him.

Sporting a 14-10 record for the 1962-63 season, East won 8 of its first 10 contests before encountering rugged Big-8 competition.

Ron L. Carlson, captain of the squad, was named to both all-conference and all-city teams for his valuable all-around play.

The E-Rabs defeated 12 opponents during regular season play and posted two more victories in the regionals before they were beaten by Auburn, the number one team in Northern Illinois.

Rockford's newest high school,

Guilford, initiated another inter-city rivalry with East. The Vikings displayed stiff determination in two battles with East.

Other players who participated on the starting five throughout most of the season were Gene Robinson, leading scorer and rebounder Al Torgerson, Bill Stenberg, and Barney Johnson.

Juniors Dennis Bloom and Mark Gibson along with sophomores Bill Michalsen and Bill Stenberg also saw much action this year, and will probably form next year's team.

Sophs, JV's Ready for Varsity Play

East's sophomores completed the 1962-63 basketball season with a 4-16 mark, losing most games due to poor defensive play.

Finishing the year with a 4-10 record, Coach Ed Delaporte's junior varsity team played its best game against Auburn. The Rabbits beat the Knights 74-56.

Although the Rabbits finished in last place in the Big 8 sophomore race, the team defeated St. Edwards of Elgin in the first round of the Belvidere tournament before losing to Elgin.

Gary Anderson, Jim Foster, and Terry Hedlund led the JV's in most departments and topped a list of ten letter winners.

Coach Harry Palmer awarded nine letters, and the team elected Larry Frantzen and Terry Hodges co-captains.

Coach Delaporte's team had a poor start but because of the squad's development, many of the players should be a valuable asset to next year's varsity team.

Managers for the soph team were Ed Stone and Gary Anderson. Managing the JV's was Bob Jacobson.

Gymnastics Squad Continues To Grow

East High's growing gymnastics squad continues as the only gymnast prep team in Rockford.

The team competed in nine meets this year despite the lack of local competition. East won two of these meets which were usually composed of experienced teams from larger schools.

Coached by William King, a former college gymnast, the sport is in its fifth year at East. Since it was initiated in 1959, it has grown in popularity with more students participating each year.

Team members were also responsible for several demonstrations of their routines during basketball game intermissions.

Victorious Tankers Complete Season

East's swim team splashed its way to a fourth place finish in the state meet at New Trier to highlight the 1962-63 swim season.

As East won the district with 92 points, ten men qualified for state. The team also out-pointed Big 8 competition to win the West High meet.

Gil LaCroix led the Robs with a first in the 200-yard individual medley. John Lindley finished second in the butterfly event while Gerald Pearson came in third in the breast stroke.

East's 200-yard freestyle relay team was given second on a judges' decision. The team tied Hinsdale's team in time, but the Chicago suburban squad was given the victory.

In other action, East's varsity piled up a 17-2 record in dual meets, the JV's scored an 11-2 mark, and the sophomores were undefeated with an 8-0 record.

Seniors Gil LaCroix and Gerald Pearson were elected co-captains by the team.

Seven members including Gerry Donahue, Al Powell, Mike Kaufman, Dick Lindeman, Svern Borgersen, Gary Carlson, and Dan Verneti qualified in the district, but only Borgersen and Donahue made the grade for a trip to Palatine.

In other action East finished second in the rough Prospect Christmas Invitational Tournament and third in the conference meet at East Aurora.

1963 Introduces Intramural Ice Hockey

Intramural ice hockey and bowling joined volleyball in East's expanding winter intramural program. Coach Bert Wrate, who supervises ice hockey and bowling, also hopes to see weightlifting added to the winter intramurals next year.

Forty-two boys participated in the ice hockey program while eight teams of three boys each were entered in bowling competition. Both sports were played on Monday and Wednesday nights.

All volleyball games were under the supervision of Bill King.

Mr. Wrate helps the members of the new intramural hockey team learn positioning and other basic fundamentals of the sport.

Boys physical education classes had volleyball competition for inner class competition. Winning class teams competed for top honors in the after school intramural program.

Leading Five Golf Lettermen Return

As the spring season progressed, so did the intense practice at Sandy Hollow Golf Course for Coach Art Sadtler's golfers. Braving the unpredictable weather of early spring, the squad pursued its aims.

Depending mostly on the five returning lettermen, Steve Hare, Greg Huston, Chuck Striebinger, Ken Swenson, and Lloyd McWilliams, Coach Sadtler looked forward to a promising season.

The 1962 squad compiled a record of 9-3 in the dual meets, captured second place in the district, fourth in conference.

Tennis Squad Prepares for Competition

With the Big Eight Conference title of 1962 to its credit, this year's veteran tennis team demanded respect from all opponents.

Last year's team accumulated a total of fourteen wins, three losses, and one tie during the season. East tied Rockford Auburn at the District Tennis Meet but was unable to send any team members to the state finals.

Coach Harry Palmer ranked Junior Pete Benson as the top candidate for the number one man in his pre-season selections. Completing the list of top ten players are Jack Peters, Randy Oman, Steve Olson, Sam Stonefield, Ron Bargren, Chuck Nelson, Bob Olson, Jack Fortin, and Jim Fredrickson.

Majority of State Finalist Team Returns

Dan Bennett grimaces as he demonstrates his skill in pitching

Rabsox baseball was at its best in the 1962 season as East captured third place in the state. This marked the first time that a Rockford team had progressed to the state baseball finals.

The team, coached by Ed Delaporte, won the Rock Valley Conference title with an 11 win and 2 loss record which aided in compiling the 18 and 5 season total.

Rabsox Field was initiated in impressive fashion in the spring of '62 as the Rabs downed a good Belvidere ball club 6-0. The new diamond, located on school property, provided the East players with a major league-sized playing field.

Several regular players returned to the Rabsox this year, including shortstop Ron Carlson and Dan Bennett, who hurled his way to 12 wins and only 4 losses last year. Bennett and Carlson were elected to the Rock Valley Conference first team.

Remnants of 1962 Big 8 Champions

East High's track and field team strived to recapture the Big Eight Conference title for the seventh consecutive year in 1963.

The Rabbits had many returning lettermen to form a strong team. One of the returning trackmen, Bob Culbertson, holds the school record for the mile run. Culbertson ran the distance in 4:26.4 at the state finals, which gave him a sixth place ranking.

Last year's team finished with a seven wins and five losses record in track competition. These victories included a win over cross-town rival West Rockford in the annual dual meet between these schools. It marked the fifth straight year that East has defeated West in this meet.

Bob Pellant assumed head coaching responsibilities this season. He was assisted by coaches Vito Lopin and Wayne Dannehl.

Meeting each Monday night, Dorado members work on endurance, speed, and synchronized swimming.

Beginning each meeting is a timed endurance swim. At the end of the year, girls successful in this field are awarded patches.

In April, the more advanced synchronized swimmers, under the direction of the adviser, Miss Virginia Horn, presented "Stop the World I Want to Get Off" as their annual aqua show. Through costumes, figures and floating patterns, the swimmers depicted peoples from all parts of the globe. Highlighting the show was a solo by Mary Thomas, president of the club.

Present Annual Dorado Show in April

1. The first step is to identify the problem. In this case, the problem is that the company is not meeting its sales targets.

Tournaments Highlight ISC's Activities

In intramural tournaments in archery, tennis, bowling, badminton, table tennis, gymnastics, and golf, members of Individual Sports' Club are able to develop their athletic ability.

Outstanding members who qualify may also participate in the Postal State Archery and Bowling Tournaments, held each year.

Mrs. Florence Lundquist, adviser of ISC, is assisted by Miss Virginia Horn, who is director of the newly formed gymnastics portion of the club.

This year, because of the available gymnastic equipment and the rising interest in girls' gymnastics, this sport was added to the club's program.

Outstanding Members Receive Awards

Responsible for the records of the four AA sports, the sportheads, with the help of Miss Elizabeth Bennett, GAA adviser, recorded individual points for their respective sports. Louise Pelt, speedball, Carol Heidreder, volleyball; Nancy Ekedahl, basketball; and Linda Swinehart, softball, also took charge of putting each day's game schedule in the homeroom announcements.

Individual activity points were given according to participation in each sport. In the spring those who had reached a specific number of points were officially initiated into GAA. These members were then eligible to receive a membership card and a pin.

According to the number of points each had accumulated during the year, in an all-school assembly in May outstanding members were presented with one or more of the first, second, and third awards.

Judy Jones, GAA president, and Ginger Rylander display their skills at the archery competition. GAA carries.

GAA's Top Twenty senior girls are chosen on the basis of their activity in all sports offered by the club. Also considered is the time spent on fund raising projects and other functions of GAA. Members receiving honorable mention are: Sue Aldeen, Sue DeLannoy, Marilyn Bacilek, Ginger Rylander, and Sharon Nyberg. Both the Top Twenty and the girls receiving honorable mention served at the annual all sports banquet sponsored by the East High Fans' Association to recognize achievements in sports.

In May, as a farewell to the top twenty and all other graduating seniors, GAA presented a mother-daughter picnic.

EAST IS PEOPLE . . .

The Superintendent Mr. W. Ray McIntosh

Board Coordinates Standards, Policies,

The Board of Education, 20 South Madison

Rockford's school board faced the continuing battle to provide Rockford with the high standards of education for which the city has long been recognized.

A November referendum defeat prompted crucial planning measures by Supt. McIntosh and the board members. Another referendum vote was anticipated and the possibility of cutting personnel throughout the city and doubling up on the class load loomed as the obvious way of meeting the educational emergency needs.

Meetings among school principals, teachers, citizens, and board representatives strengthened communications across the city. This effort to improve and unify schools is extended by the administration to the county, state, and national levels.

The main office

Each seven-hour and forty-minute school day is the result of careful planning and cooperation between the principal, deans, teachers, office personnel, cafeteria, and custodial workers.

Mr. Welsh is responsible for directing a program that complies with school, city, and state requirements.

One-hundred-fourteen faculty members attend department, general, and special meetings. Through these sessions, courses are planned so that all students will cover basic materials under different instructors.

In the 1962-63 school year, East has upheld its traditional high scholastic standards, provided extra-curricular activities for varied interests, and molded students into good citizens.

Common to entering students are feelings of excitement, inexperience, fright, and wonder. Opening orientations helped to erase these emotions by introducing the sophomores to high school life. The class was encouraged to participate in academic and social activities.

The situation with the Class of '65 was unique as many sophomores entered the new Guilford High. This produced a new kind of school rivalry; friends were cheering against friends.

Elections drew the class leaders into school politics. To lose or win, they campaigned striving to better themselves.

The spring dance fulfilled all expectations. Sophomores were anticipating the future.

While some juniors went to Guilford Senior High School, the remaining class undertook several projects and participated in numerous events. To help finance the Junior Prom, "Wonderland by Night", cast members sold $320 worth of tickets for the Junior Class play, "Ask Any Girl". In preparation for college, many juniors took the PSAT as a preliminary to the SAT. Also important in the junior testing program were the Illinois High School Tests

Thus, 669 strong, the Class of '64 planned for its role as Rockford East seniors.

Memories realized from day-to-day activities at East will form a nucleus of valuable reference for grads. Bustling with activity, the past year has left a profound impression upon seniors. They bring to a close a seven-year experiment in which they were objects of testing to study the motivation and achievement of students in science courses in junior and senior high schools. Sponsored by the Western Michigan University, the study began for seniors in 1957 at Lincoln Junior High School

With the assistance of the senior counselors college and occupational choices were made social functions were planned, and graduation preparations completed. The last year was a stepping stone to the future

maybe, among other things, you can remember our music but I guess (you might not want to) Anyway, lots of good luck (don't get depressed)
and I'll finish later.

Sue,

It hardly seems that we have been in school here for 3 years. It seems only yesterday that we entered as sophomores. Just think - next year college! Remember all we have suffered with our homeroom teachers! Gibbs was really the worst possible we could have had! Perhaps I will see you again - I hope so! Call me this summer! - Best of luck at Utah.

Have fun

Judy Fredrickson

Sue - have I really have enjoyed getting to know you & eating lunch with you this year. Speech class has also been loads of fun. I wish you all the luck in college and the future. Have a great summer!

SUE

WELL OUR YEAR IN PUBLICATIONS HAS COME TO AN END. WE WOULDN'T HAVE HAD HALF AS MUCH FUN IF WE COULDN'T OF KIDDED YOU ALL YEAR. WHAT ELSE WOULD WE HAVE DONE WHEN THINGS GOT BORING. BEST LUCK NEXT YEAR AT COLLEGE AND ALWAYS. I KNOW YOU'LL DO WELL.

Gordon Linder

Sue,

How did you like music lit.?
I think I passed the final, although I slept through most of the course. Congratulations on your poetry prize. That contest is one of my dearest memories. I still haven't spent the $5.00. I think I'll frame it. I hope you had fun at the prom! You and Terry made a real cute couple! Good luck in whatever you do in the future.

Marie Colwell

Dearest Susan,

I trust you have enjoyed your two years at East with its excellent teachers (like Miss Johnson) and the first-class student body (like me). Seriously though, during this year I can't help but have noticed your gift for poetry and your sensitivity to the world around you. Hold on to this gift at college and try to develop it even further and, although you may never receive a Nobel Prize (as spread at the President's inauguration), I'm sure you will be greatly rewarded by it. Best of luck and best wishes always from a friend and fellow sufferer.

Yours,
Derry Ekstrom

It has been a great year, hasn't it?
I have many experiences
which will be long remembered.
One of these is our English class.
I think that the greatest thing I have learned is the knowledge of people. In the many discussions and other personalities I will always remember you helping me with my memory lines. I have a good time in college and always Chuck. Erickson

Dear Susan,

That's what you are, not just an ordinary "Sue". To know you this year has been a beautiful (literally) experience.
It's surprising how an English class can make kids feel like they know the depths of each others souls or something. You have really beautified our class with your inspiring ("inspirational") themes and comments and your lovely poetry voice.

My best wishes and prayers are with you as you go on —
May your life be blessed in many ways.

With love,

Marcia Ericson
